

Description On July 14, 2008 the Federal Reserve Board published final revisions to Regulation Z, which, for the most part, take effect on October 1, 2009. While all of the revisions are important, the new advertising rules need immediate attention. This program focuses on the new rules for open-end credit, including home equity lines of credit. The changes impact ads for loan products that are broadcasted or distributed in any manner on or after October 1, 2009. Existing ads may need to be retooled if used after October 1, 2009. And any new ads used on or after the October 1st effective date must comply with the new requirements.

Features

The new Regulation Z rules are the Federal Reserve Board's response to the sub-prime mortgage lending crisis. But make no mistake about it, the new rules impact all lenders not just those who engaged in sub-prime lending practices.

What is an On-Demand Course?

It is a training tool that gives you and your staff on-demand six months unlimited access to a variety of topics presented by names you trust—for one low price. Each course includes a video presentation from the speaker, audio and slides—plus a detailed manual for download and a Question and Answer Forum for answers anytime.

The process is simple. Enroll in a course, pay online with a credit card, and receive an e-mail immediately with your link to your course. The same login information and link is used to access all courses you purchase using your account. Your computer will need speakers to receive the audio presentation. There are no special hardware or software requirements to view the program. Presentations lasting in excess of one hour are broken down into 30 minute segments to make it easier to manage class participation time.

Special note to Trainers: This system gives you the ability to develop your online training library. Using one link, user name and password anyone in your organization is able to access the program for six months. The manual and other supporting materials are available to anyone with the login information. You forward the login information, assign the courses to watch and let the learning begin.
